Present

A free one-hour CLE Program with

Lawrence Goldstone

the author of

Inherently Unequal: The Betrayal of Civil Rights 1865-1903

Wednesday, February 9, 2011 at 7:00 p.m.

at the Poisoned Pen

4014 N Goldwater Blvd. Suite 101 • Scottsdale, AZ 85251
(on the southwest corner of the intersection of Goldwater Blvd. and First Ave., just south of Indian School Rd.)

No pre-registration necessary.

We recommend arriving at least 15 minutes in advance to sign in for CLE credit.

From the Poisoned Pen Booknews: “One of the saddest episodes in American history has been inadequately explored and poorly understood—until now. Goldstone’s brilliantly written book traces the post-Reconstruction Supreme Court’s slow strangulation of equal rights for African-Americans. It will be a shock to many that the judicial branch, viewed in the modern context as the premier defender of civil rights, was primarily responsible for the nation’s descent into a deep, racist inequality that ruined the lives of millions for a century. As Goldstone shows us, Lincoln’s great legacy was cynically dismantled by the officeholders best positioned to protect it. ‘A furious indictment of the Supreme Court as an accessory to the anti-democratic machinations of Gilded Age elites.’—Kirkus Reviews.”

Mr. Goldstone will sign copies of Inherently Unequal and his other works at this event.

Mr. Goldstone is also the author of Anatomy of Deception, Astronomer, Out of the Flames, and other works, many of which will be available for purchase at the Poisoned Pen.

If you are interested in ordering your books from the Poisoned Pen in advance of the event, call 480.947.2974 or email sales@poisonedpen.com.