5. Discussion of April 5, 2024 SOS (BLS Summit) meeting:

Wendi Sorensen asked the BLS Administrator to provide details regarding the agenda topics and background on the Summit meeting. Randal Westbury stated that it's been a year since the last Summit meeting and apologized it's taken so long to schedule the meeting. He continued with news of the following items:

1. The Specialist of Year award was approved by the BLS and State Bar so nominations for the award would be sent to all specialists in May for the return vote to be tallied in June. The winner of the award would be selected in June/July and announced in December. The idea is to have the winner meet at the winter SOS meeting and the BOG president present the winner with the award. The winner would also be published in the December Arizona Attorney Magazine.
2. The Revisions to the Rules was submitted to the Supreme Court in March. The revisions would help clear some of the confusion to the Rules and also provide more defined directions to some of the regulations. Randal Westbury commented that maybe the BLS would update and refine the Rules every two years to ensure the Rules reflected the current industry standards.
3. The Peer Review Metrics have been a concern over the past few years and the BLS is asking the Advisory Commissions to become more involved in determining weight categories of requirements.
4. The new "Paraprofessional" designation has been approved by the Court and it's an item the BLS and Commissions would need to determine if the applicants can apply for specialization. Kendra Owens-Johnson provided details that the State Bar recognizes the paraprofessional and assigns a bar number. She continued that technically, they have the same privileges as attorneys so it's possible they may seek the specialist's certification.

Randal Westbury concluded that he's received eight of the ten confirmations and he's expecting it to be a productive meeting.
